June 2015*

I. Rationale:

The National Association for the Education of Young Children in 1994 published standards for advanced programs identified a constellation of traits. Among the abilities noted were some things such as understanding the socio cultural, historical and political forces that influence early childhood and even special children that entered the school.

The cultural diversities in the school and also the different kinds of children that are mixed in the classroom, the teachers do not know how to identify the normal from the non-normal ones. With this seminar the speakers will discuss the different trends and issues regarding the early education and special children. To be able to know the trends and issues that these children are wont to face, this seminar is timely for all teachers handling special and early childhood education.

II. Date & Venue: September 11-13, 2015 at Imus Cavite.

III. The Seminar Aims to:

1. Know the policies of special education management.
2. Apply special education advocates toward worldwide functional implementation.
3. Deal with the trends and issues confronting these special children worldwide.
4. Know the different wide technique that SPED and Teachers Around The World Apply to Their Special Children Students.

IV. The Seminar Topics are:

1. The Policies of Special Education Management That Are Globally Practiced.
