Raising a Sensory Smart Child: Helping Children with ADHD, Autism, & Sensory Processing Disorder

November 18, 19, & 20, 2016

Venue: R.E.A.C.H., Inc., Las Pinas City 2nd Fl., Uniwide Sales Metro Mall,
#43 Real St. Pamplona, Las Piñas City

Overview:

There's a big difference between "bad behavior" and "sensory overload." Learn on how you can help the school recognize and manage this. While needs vary from child to child, opportunities to obtain the sensory input a child's nervous system craves and to avoid noxious sensory experiences should be provided across the board. Children with sensory issues, brief respites may be crucial in order to remain focused, calm, and attentive throughout the school day. This exciting hands-on workshop will provide participants with the latest conceptual and practical information to be able to further understand and obtain a complete picture of a child's sensory functioning at home, school or virtually any setting. Every child is different and when one treatment plan may work for one, it may be ineffective for another. Using the latest assessment tools, treatment strategies and real life case studies, you will be able to immediately create and implement a specifically designed Sensory Diet (a.k.a. sensory modulation).

This seminar-workshop is for you if you have students or a child with the following diagnoses:

- Sensory Modulation Disorder
- Autism
- ADD or ADHD

Objectives:

At the end of the seminar-workshop, the participants will gain understanding on:

1. Research related to the various sensory strategies often recommended by occupational therapists and other professionals who help to create individualized sensory diets;
2. Learn how to administer assessment of children with sensory issues;
3. Develop IEP;
4. Understand and appreciate the various sensory diets for each sensory issue;
5. Interventions for children diagnosed with hyposensitivity and hypersensitivity;
6. Considerations in Planning a Sensory Diet;

7. Provide accommodations in various situations to enable the child with sensory problems thrive in the general classroom;
8. Learn the fun functions of therapy products, toys and equipment to address the sensory problems of SPDs.
9. Enjoy various exhibits of sensory materials during the workshop.

Methodology:

This seminar-workshop will include lecture, large and small group round table discussion, individual reflection, audio-visual presentations, videos, case studies (based upon information that the participants will have brought with them about a particular child in their program/classroom), and experiential activities. The format is designed to be engaging and encouraging of continual interaction between the learners and instructor.
